

Thank you again for participating in this year's Mr. Anvil Phoenix title contest! I'm reaching out to request a short bio that can be used in publicity on the contest website: <https://MrAnvilPhoenix.com>, as well as material during the show for introductions and stage banter.

This bio should include information about any titles you hold, achievements in the community, other achievements in life, kinks, fetishes and expertise you hold. Other hobbies and interests and other pursuits outside the leather and LGBTQ+ community. Feel free to include information about your pets and other people in your life like partners/spouses and other personal history like where you come from and cities you've lived in. You're welcome to include your profession and professional associations and degrees and other honors you hold in life. But please remember to only include information you're comfortable with being made publicly available.

If you already have a nice publicity "head shot" photo of yourself, please provide this too. And if you don't have a good one on hand, we will be having Michael Coleman "The Metropolitan Cowboy" available to take your photo on Sunday, April 7 beginning at 10 am. His availability will coincide with the contest walk thru at the Anvil Bar. We'll have the bar space available during these 3 hours before the Anvil opens at 1:00 pm for their regularly scheduled shenanigans.
